

Global seismic structure maps

Jeroen Ritsema

*Dept. Sismologie, Institut de Physique du Globe, Tour 14-24, 4, place Jussieu, 75252
Paris, France*

ABSTRACT

This article briefly describes the derivation of S20RTS, a model of shear wave velocity variations in the mantle. In particular, I illustrate how interpretation of tomographic models is complicated by heterogeneous resolution, taking as an example the Icelandic upper mantle.